

Abstract

The objective of this work is to carry out an approximation to relate the documentation preserved in the archives, so many of the localities of the territory of the "Señorío de los Manuel" during the XIII and XIV centuries, as those conserved in other places related to said geographical area, for establish a clear relationship between the documentary typology and the internal and external processes that occurred in the area, and that show us the process of conquest, colonization, daily life and relations between the communities and the lords and the monarchy in a border area. For the study of the documentation we have used the funds of the various archives kept in the area, that is, any that could be of interest in the Alicante, Albacete and Murcia.